KNOWING YOUR NEIGHBOUR

Kiky Hapshary

As a Director of Sea Group & Head of Representative of SEA Group Indoensia, Kiky Hapshary continues to inspire the women of Indonesia with her continuous achievements. In this chapter of Knowing Your Neighbour, we look closer as she shares a bit about her success, lifestyle, and her idea of modern living.

Knowing Your Neighbour

As an executive at a global multinational technology company, Kiky Hapshary leads a busy life where most of her time is spent at work or doing work related activities. However, she always try to make some time for her family and to fit in reading and excercising in her daily life to maintain her health and fitness.

When asked about her key to success, she told us that success and lifestyle goes hand in hand and are closely related. “Your lifestyle determines your mindset, habits, well-being, and relationships, which are all crucial factors for achieving success”. She explains further that when you cultivate a positive, healthy, and productive lifestyle, you are setting up yourself for success and enhance your chance to live the kind of life you desire.

When we think about it, lifestyle also influences our relationship and social network, as your lifestyles attracts the people that surround you.

Furthermore, people you surround yourself with can have a significant impact on your success. Positive relationships and a supportive network can provide you with encouragement, advice, and opportunities that can help you achieve your target and goals.

Other than discussing work, Kiky also shares her ideal version of modern living. For her residence unit, she admits that she have yet to decide on concept and feel yet and is still looking for reference and inspiration. What she does know, is that she chose The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta because it is the best address in town that offers an array of outstanding services and ammenities that The St. Regis brand is famous for.

As an individual who appreciate the finer things in life and seek out experiences tailored to their tastes, Kiky believes that St. Regis is the perfect choice because of its position as a global brand known for providing customers with an exceptional level of elegance, sophistication, and refinement. In a more personal level “The St. Regis brand creates a meaningful by offering personalized service, and luxurious living in a strategic locations in Jakarta”.

Fleuve by Saniharto & Vivianne Faye

Rich, Vibrant, and Sophisticated, Merysia Enggalhardjo from SANIHARTO & Vivianne Faye transformed our marketing gallery with their newest collection, “Fleuve”.

After a number of collaboration with notable designers , SANIHARTO again carves a new history with another famous designer in Indonesia, Vivianne Faye. The two collaborated to launch their newest collection “Fleuve” in the new show suites, combining the best craftsmanship with a touch of the latest design language.

What’s the main concept behind “Fleuve”?

ME: The main concept behind our “Fleuve” is inspired by the flow of nature. It is like a river flow that naturally flows from highlands to the ocean. Fleuve is here to break the rigidity of existing furniture into a more organic form without leaving the function and aesthetics so that the it is not only functional, but also an art piece by itself.

VF: In this collection you can observe a perfect balance between a dark and a bright furniture, giving it the perfect concept for a minimalistic, yet classical living.

What kind of role do furniture uphold in a living space?

ME: Furniture adds functionality to your space, and defines the role of the space. It helps to bring charm and style to your interior design. Furniture brings you comfort, Some unique ones leave great impression while others do the same with their incredible functions and features.

VF: They have grown to become an essential part of our daily routines. Not only do we get our lives organized with it, it also brings us solace, comfort, ambience, and style.

Why choose each other as a partner?

ME: Vivianne Faye signature design is rich in character, vibrant, sophisticated, and always adorned in glamour. She creates designs that emphasize a personal touch and a sense of harmony, principles that are reflected along her work.

VF: Saniharto is one of the world’s leading product makers widely known for their high quality workmanship. They have such high standards that every product is custom made to achieve the highest level of design, construction and finish

Why choose The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta as your show unit?

ME: The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta offers their customer one of the best and most luxurious living available in the whole world. We at Saniharto share the same vision of quality and only serving the very best to our discerning customer. Other than that, The Residences at The St. Regis Jakarta is also situated strategically right in the heart of Jakarta, making it super accessible to interact with our existing and potential client.
